Tareq and Hussein were exploring a narrow alley behind the theatre, the next they were falling through space. Tareq saw something on one of the walls. Tareq started to walk towards the painting, but Hussein stopped him. He pointed at the ground. A long, glittering shape was crawling into the shadows. It was a snake! Hussein found a large stick. He said he would use it if the snake came back. After about half an hour, it grew dark. Hussein turned on his mobile phone. The first time Sami ever flew in a plane was when he was about thirteen. His parents were taking him to visit his uncle in Kuwait. It was only a short flight, about two hours. Once on the plane, before they left the ground, he almost became bored. He thought that perhaps flying wasn't such an exciting event. Then they took off. He was sitting by the window where he enjoyed the view of the city from the sky. He loved every minute of that journey – and he still loves flying. Even though he has flown many times now, he still finds it as exciting and thrilling as he did then.
